Luciano Cedrone, CPP, Vice President, National Security, Brookfield Properties

Luciano Cedrone is currently the VP National Security for Brookfield Properties and a Certified Protection Professional (CPP). His 20-year career includes work in both public and private sectors starting with the York Regional Police Service where his career included primary response, training and the Criminal Investigations Bureau before he moved into Intelligence where he specialized in investigating organized criminal organizations. In 2007 Luciano moved to the private sector as the Corporate Security Manager for Walmart Canada; then National Director of Security for Cadillac Fairview before moving into his current role with Brookfield overseeing National Security including risk mitigation, preparedness, emergency response and business continuity. Luciano is a proponent of public/private partnerships and actively participates on a number of industry boards who are focused on building cooperative approaches to security and where cyber security is a primary focus of those initiatives.
